

Take it from Here

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI) — We have long had a pressing need in this country for cheap new energy sources that can be harnessed without creating additional pollution problems.

The fulfillment of that exigency may now be near at hand. It comes to us in the form of a combination generating plant and gambling casino.

This concept was conceived by a friend of mine who recently took a vacation trip to Las Vegas. He came back convinced that he had discovered the greatest untapped energy potential in America.

"All we need do," he explained, "is harness the energy of slot machines."

All day and all night, he noted, tremendous amounts of energy are expended by people pulling the handles of one-armed bandits.

Much Energy Expended
"Even little old ladies in tennis shoes expend about 8,336,000,000 ergs an hour," he said.

"How did you arrive at that?" I calculate that it takes about five foot-pounds of energy to pull a slot machine handle," my friend replied. "As you know, one foot-pound represents 13,560,000 ergs."

"Assuming that the handle is pulled an average of once every 60 seconds, it would take 4,068,000,000 ergs to operate the machine for an hour. But that overlooks an important point.

"The thing to keep in mind is that most people playing a one-armed bandit expend far more energy than is necessary to pull the handle. They are emotionally keyed up, you see, as a result of either winning or losing."

"This activates their supranal glands, which then pump abnormal amounts of adrenalin into the blood stream, causing them to hyper-energize when pulling the handle."

Use Twice Necessary Amount
"Little old ladies expend about twice the amount of energy required to play the machines."

I said, "I hope they don't put all of their ergs in one bandit." "No, they switch machines a lot. But even so, vast amounts of energy go to waste every hour in Las Vegas."

My friend proposes to harness this excess energy by lining up slot machines along one wall and installing a turbine on the other side.

The energy that is now dissipated in playing the machines would be harnessed to operate the turbine, which would then generate electric power.

Why spend huge sums to build nuclear reactors when little old ladies in tennis shoes will do the job for nothing?

Faith Rewarded

ALDRSHOT, England (UPI) — His friends were skeptical but for eight weeks Sam Friend, 70, searched more than 500 houses near Aldershot looking for his missing cat.

Sunday he found the animal sitting on the roof of an abandoned house. "I knew I would find him one day," Friend said.

News in Brief

Weather Nice Over Nation

By United Press International
Warm air from the Gulf of Mexico and the Pacific pushed temperatures above normal for most of the nation today.

Snow flurries as always dotted the Lower Great Lakes, New England and the Southern Rockies. The moist Gulf air brought rain from Texas and Oklahoma north to the Central Appalachians.

Six persons were killed Sunday when their light airplane crashed into Pine Mountain in Kentucky during a heavy rainstorm. Officials said the six were apparently returning to Cleveland, Ohio, from auto races at Daytona Beach, Fla.

There were no major storm centers above any part of the nation.

Rogers Ends African Tour

MONROVIA (UPI) — Secretary of State William P. Rogers closed out a tour of 10 African nations Sunday night with the pledge that the Nixon administration stands behind the right of self-determination for the people of the continent.

Rogers flew to the Caribbean island of Aruba for a rest before returning to Washington. "We want to make it clear that our effort in Africa is not in the cold war context and we have no objections to our relations in Africa," Rogers told President William V. S. Tubman during his 24-hour stop in Liberia.

Avalanche Engulfs Hotel

ST. IGNUMD, Austria (UPI) — An avalanche triggered by a sudden thaw thundered down on this Alpine village today, engulfing a tourist hotel in tons of snow.

Police said at least four persons were killed. Nine more were dug out, apparently uninjured. The hotel was reported destroyed.

Other avalanches blocked the road to St. Sigmund, a town 12 miles west of the tourist center of Innsbruck. Helicopters flew in rescue teams and other aid.

Gina's Engagement Is Off

ROME (UPI) — Gina Lollobrigida's engagement to New York businessman George S. Kaufman is off.

Miss Lollobrigida said in a telephone call from New York Sunday she and Kaufman will remain good friends. They said last November they would get married soon but almost immediately reports began circulating in Rome and New York that all was not smooth.

Cranston Against Carswell

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Alan Cranston, D-Calif., announced today he would vote against the Supreme Court nomination of Judge G. Harrold Carswell.

Cranston, the 17th senator to announce he would oppose confirmation, said he opposed Carswell because of his lack of distinction as jurist, lawyer, and United States attorney.

Israelis Hit Canal Area

TEL AVIV (UPI) — Israeli planes returned to blast Egyptian military installations at the southern end of the Suez Canal today, breaking a three-day lull in Israeli aerial activity along the waterway. An Army spokesman said Israeli planes pounded Egyptian artillery and anti-aircraft batteries in the southern sector.

All Israeli planes returned to base safely, he said.

Volunteer Force Unlikely By Mid-1971 Says Laird

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird sees little chance of eliminating the draft and converting to an all-volunteer armed force by mid-1971 as recommended by a presidential commission.

Laird also said he could not see any expansion of the U.S.

Shouldn't Look

LONDON (UPI) — Mrs. Irene Poole, captain of a women's marbles team, has hit back at the men who have barred them from the forthcoming world championships.

The women were told the sight of them crouching in miniskirts or trousers would upset the men.

"Nonsense," said Mrs. Poole, "most women wear tights. In any case, the men should be concentrating on the game, not looking at our knees or bottoms."

military role in Laos "as far as ground forces are concerned," although he declined to rule out greater use of air power to aid royal Laotian troops.

The Pentagon chief basically endorsed the concept of volunteerism outlined in a report submitted Saturday to President Nixon by a 15-member panel headed by former Defense Secretary Thomas S. Gates Jr. But Laird said U.S. military strength would have to drop to at least 2.5 million men before the draft could be scrapped, a good deal below the 2.9 million level projected for July 1, 1971.

Laird's view was similar to that expressed Sunday by Sen. John C. Stennis, D-Miss., chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee.

Stennis said he thought the volunteer idea was "desirable" but that it probably could not be systematized "for years." A standby draft system would be needed for as many as 15 years to encourage volunteers, he said.

"Certainly it's a practical objective," Laird said, "and I think we can move in that direction. But I do not want to give a fixed timetable as far as 1971... because I do not believe that our force structure will necessarily be at the 2.5 million figure that is projected in this report."

The defense secretary commented on the report during a television interview (Meet the Press — NBC).

In answer to questions about U.S. involvement in Laos, Laird said American aircraft were being used there to assure "the safety and security of American troops in Vietnam."

Reconnaissance missions and bombing of the Ho Chi Minh Trail were necessary and continuing, he said.

Israel Will End Air Attacks on Own If World Doesn't: Meir

JERUSALEM (UPI) — Premier Golda Meir said today Israel would act on its own if the world does not take measures to end Arab terrorist attacks on civil aviation. Nine airlines suspended mail and freight service to Israel before she spoke.

All Israel joined eight other airlines in the suspension.

Mrs. Meir met with envoys of 18 nations to appeal for worldwide measures against Arab terrorism then went before the Knesset (Parliament) with her warning to the Arab world. The actions followed the crash of an Israeli-bound Swissair airliner Saturday with a loss of 47 lives.

In London representatives from the major airline carriers of the world met to consider measures to prevent such attacks. At Heathrow Airport in London, Zaventem Airport in Brussels and Leonardo da Vinci airport in Rome security guards searched Israel-bound passengers' luggage.

Police cars drove alongside Israeli jetliners on the runways at Heathrow.

British pilots demanded that all flights to Israel be suspended because of the danger to passengers but the government refused.

Pro-Israeli members of the British Parliament complained the government had bowed to Arab terrorist intimidation.

Austria, which experienced a nonfatal airliner bombing on Saturday, said it would take the matter before the United Nations Tuesday.

Mrs. Meir told the Knesset: "We are convinced the international community has the power to put an end to piracy and terror in the air by adopting real measures against the terrorist organizations, their emissaries and those supporting them, and against those Arab states from where they come and in whose midst they operate, on whose soil they train and whose governments support them with arms, money and shelter."

"Israel will not reconcile herself to assaults on the airlines leading to her and will fulfill her duty to defend them."

Mrs. Meir summoned the ambassadors after a speech to her cabinet Sunday night in which she called on "governments, airlines and private organizations to take the necessary steps to put an end to the running amok of Arab terrorism throughout the world."

A communique issued after her speech to the envoys said Mrs. Meir "requested the heads of missions to advise their government of the urgent need for effective and concrete steps to be taken by the international community in order to put an end to acts of terrorism against international aviation."

"Mrs. Meir noted that the plague of assault on civilian aviation has recently spread throughout the world... and the Arab governments are the only ones in the world providing bases and encouragement, immunity and cover for these crimes as well as aid in money and arms to the organizations. "The activities of the Arab terrorist organizations are aimed not merely at hijacking planes and their passengers but also at murdering the passengers and crews."

Meeting with Mrs. Meir were heads of missions of Argentina, Austria, Belgium, Brazil, Canada, Denmark, Finland, France, Great Britain, Greece, Holland, Italy, Mexico, Norway, Romania, Switzerland, the United States and West Germany.

Arab Terrorists Attack American Bus; 1 Killed

JERUSALEM (AP) — Arab terrorists attacked a busload of Americans touring the Holy Land in occupied Jordan today and killed one woman and wounded three others, the Israeli military command announced.

The woman killed was identified as a resident of Michigan but officials withheld her name. The wounded were two American women and a local guide, officials said.

The tourists were on a one-day tour of the Holy Land when their bus came under small-arms fire in Hebron's northern outskirts, the announcement said. A helicopter evacuated the wounded to a hospital in Jerusalem.

While Israeli security forces surrounded the area.

There were 37 American tourists, a guide and a driver on the bus when it came under fire about 3 p.m.—8 a.m. EST.

A spokesman for the Proper Tourist Agency, in charge of the tour, said the Americans all were from the New York area and were on a Christian pilgrimage to the Holy Land.

The leader of the tour was identified only as the Rev. Draper.

His sister, Lucille Draper, was one of the wounded, a Ministry of Tourism spokesman said.

Hebron is a center of Arab agitation on the Israeli-occupied west bank of Jordan.

A tourist bus was ambushed at dusk late last year en route from Beersheba to Hebron and an American passenger was killed.

Israeli army troops swarmed over the Hebron area in a massive search for the ambushers.

Arab guerrilla organizations have warned foreign visitors to stay out of the occupied territories.

Christian pilgrims who came to celebrate Christmas at Bethlehem were advised by one organization against worshiping under the Israeli flag. "We are at war with Israel," the guerrillas said.

Happy Birthday, George!

CHICAGO (AP) — Travelers at O'Hare International Airport were bemused Sunday when over the public address system came the words:

"Paging Mr. George Washington, Mr. George Washington."

An airport official said "we can't afford to take a chance" that the request was made by a prankster, "because it's the legitimate name of some people."

EVANSTON, Ill. (AP) — A letter from a New York dentist to George Washington in 1793 gave the first president cause to avoid port wine.

The letter, now on exhibit at Northwestern University, as written by Dr. John Greenwood. Greenwood told Washington, whose dentures were made of hippopotamus ivory, that a set of dentures he had received from Washington were black because the president had either soaked them in port wine or had been drinking too much of it.

"Port wine, being sour, takes off all the polish, and all acid has a tendency to soften every kind of teeth and bone," the dentist wrote. "I advise you to take them out after dinner and put them in clean water, or clean them with a brush and some chalk scraped fine."

WASHINGTON (UPI) — George Washington's birthday, a holiday for many Americans, was observed today because the 22nd fell on Sunday. The 22nd falls on Monday next year but it'll be work as usual for many of those who got today off.

The reason is that beginning in 1971, by act of Congress, observance of Washington's birthday as a holiday will fall each year on the third Monday of February. So even though Feb. 22 will be on Monday in 1971, the Washington's birthday celebration will be on the previous Monday, the 15th.

The objective was to guarantee federal employees at least five three-day weekends a year.

Besides Washington's birthday on the third Monday of February, other changes starting next year are observance of Memorial Day on the last Monday in May (instead of always on May 30); Columbus Day on the first Monday in October (a new holiday for federal employees), and Veterans Day the fourth Monday in October (instead of Nov. 22). Observances for New Year's Day, Independence Day, Labor Day, Thanksgiving Day and Christmas Day were not changed.

Large Promotion, But Usual Hitch

COLUMBUS, Ohio (UPI) — City police officials recently promoted 40 patrolmen to the rank of sergeant, the largest single promotional class in the history of the force.

But it may be a few weeks before the public will be able to identify the newly promoted men.

The city doesn't have enough gold-plated sergeant badges to go around.

North Viets Capture Laos' Plain of Jars

VIENTIANE (UPI) — A government spokesman said today North Vietnamese troops used helicopters in their capture of the Plain of Jars Saturday.

Most other military officials discounted the report as an attempt to offset the questionable battlefield performance of Laotian troops.

Col. Thongphan Knoeksy, the Defense Ministry spokesman, told Laotian newsmen that the North Vietnamese used as many as 6,000 troops, 18 tanks and three command helicopters to seize control of the plain.

A U.S. military official said "we have heard nothing at all to this effect." American officers reported earlier that only about 400 North Vietnamese spearheaded the attack and were supported by an unknown number of tanks.

The Plain of Jars is located 105 miles north of Vientiane and about 60 miles from the North Vietnamese border. If helicopters were used in the battle they would have risked being shot down by scores of U.S. and Laotian fighter-bombers that operate on an around-the-clock basis in the region.

The Laotian government has previously given reports of North Vietnamese helicopter sightings closer to the border, but none of these has ever been confirmed.

Thongphan gave no other details of his claim helicopters were used in Saturday's attack. He said only that the aircraft served as command ships.

Military sources said earlier North Vietnamese troops carried their offensive beyond the plain by assaulting a government outpost outside the plain.

Military officials said the attack was not a major thrust but was significant because it showed the Communists are interested in advancing beyond the plain, perhaps toward Muong Suoi, 25 miles west.

North Vietnamese troops last year captured Muong Suoi, site of a government airfield, but were repulsed by the government offensive that drove them completely from the Plain of Jars.

Muong Suoi would give the guerrillas virtual control or the critical junction of national Highways 7 and 13 and would threaten further the royal capital at Luang Prabang 30 miles away.

United States has thrown waves of fighter-bombers and B52 bombers, military sources said. B52 strikes in Vietnam were suspended again today so all the bombers could concentrate their strikes against the North Vietnamese on the Plain of Jars.

The Doctor Says

By W. G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.

A mother writes that her infant son appears to be healthy and strong but that he has a so-called simian crease on his right palm. His left palm is normal. Having heard various rumors, she is concerned about the possible significance of this.

In normal palms, what the palmists call the head line and the heart line, although separate, and distinct, do not extend across the entire palm. In many, but not all, victims of mongolism, these lines may be replaced by a single line that does traverse the whole palm. This is the simian crease. This and other abnormal lines are also seen in some children with leukemia and those with defects due to German measles in the mother during pregnancy. Incidentally, mongoloid children are highly susceptible to leukemia.

Since abnormal palm lines

Q—My 4-month-old daughter's right arm and leg are much larger than her left. Our doctor calls this localized gigantism. He says that it is rare and that nothing can be done for it. What do you think?

A—This developmental abnormality, sometimes called hemihypertrophy, is indeed rare. For some unknown reason, the victim is usually a girl. The difference between the two sides often becomes less as the child grows older. When the difference is great, surgical repair is recommended. This is done in multiple stages and should be started before the child reaches school age.

Q—When my granddaughter was a baby, the doctor told us to have her lie on her stomach, as this would help her to burp. I believe that, when babies sleep on their stomachs, they breathe the same air over and over and that this results in a lack of sufficient oxygen for the brain. Now she is mentally retarded and I blame the doctor.

A—Sleeping on the stomach is the preferred position because, if an infant spits up any food, she will not inhale it and have a fit of choking, which might lead to aspiration pneumonia or a lung abscess. There is no danger of her not getting enough oxygen this way. There are many causes of mental retardation but sleeping on the stomach is not one of them.

Deplores Policy

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A national policy of "integration at the expense of education" has left education "in serious condition and deteriorating," according to Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss. Meeting Royalty

"We're going to London to see the Queen," was an old British saying. But how would you like to come to the U.S., join the Army, and then return to Europe just to meet a king? Sergeant Kurt Michaelson, of the 4th Armored Division, had this experience recently on a NATO exercise. The former Danish citizen was on maneuvers in Denmark when King Frederick IX paid a visit to field headquarters near Copenhagen. SGT Michaelson was introduced to his former king, whom he had never met. "Shaking his hand is an occasion I will always remember and treasure," the sergeant said. "I found the king a very warm person." SGT Michaelson came to the U.S. in 1959, was drafted and served two tours in Vietnam.

Army Art Collection

The U.S. Army has its own art collection. It's housed in the office of the Chief of Military History in Washington, and the paintings are all done by Army artists under the Army Artist Program. Reproductions are used in public affairs programs, as decorations for mess halls and offices and, of course, for maintaining a military record of events. Recently 10 paintings out of 500 submitted were chosen as a representative sampling to be added to the collection. They included paintings with such topics as "The Rice Harvest" and "Night Patrol." Both civilian and military activities of Army personnel are depicted in the paintings.

This is how it works: A stretcher-like capsule, large enough to hold one man, is dropped to the ground from the aircraft. The capsule is placed inside and the capsule is then attached to a tether which is held in the sky by a helium-filled balloon. A "sky-hook," mounted to the nose of the plane, engages the tether and the capsule is hoisted into the air and pulled into the aircraft. The entire operation takes just a few minutes and will facilitate rescue operations in

The Spirit of 1776 Invades White House

By HELEN THOMAS
WASHINGTON (UPI)—The guest of honor wasn't invited, but George Washington would have enjoyed the entertainment at his White House birthday party.

Ashton High To Present Productions

ASHTON — Ashtonites will have an opportunity to see two old-fashioned "Meller Drammers" at Ashton High School under the direction of James McCloud.

Two one-act productions will be presented, one with a cast of seniors and one with a cast of sophomore students.

Production night will be April 4.

Costs for the plays were announced as follows:

"The City Slicker and Our Nell" will comprise the following cast of seniors:

Nellie Beard, Sherry Krizbaum; Violet Beard, Ginger Silvis; Frank Beard, Larry Ebert; M'nie Beard, Pat Lawson; Dan Tucker, Steve Henert; Toby Snodgrass, Tom Butler; Sheridan Douglas, Jay Swanson; Clarebell Worth, Beckie Hart; Aunt Martha, Ann Bergquist.

The sophomore cast of "Curse You Jack Dalton" includes:

Rehearsals will begin Monday in the high school auditorium. Student assistants for each production will be selected prior to that date.

that probes the lives of the founding fathers.

The actors danced and sang on a specially constructed stage in the East Room — "where Abigail Adams used to hang her wash," Nixon noted.

The play deals with the compromise and often heated debate that surrounded the adoption of the Declaration of Independence. And the heroes — Ben Franklin, John Adams and Thomas Jefferson — display human foibles not included in high school history texts.

"You made a great contribution to independence by keeping your trap shut," Franklin says at one point to the supercilious Adams.

The crowd loved it and gave the cast a standing ovation. It proves that "patriotism isn't box office poison," Nixon said.

During rehearsals, some White House aides asked that two songs including "Mama Look Sharp," a number with strong antiwar sentiment — be deleted. Producer Stuart Ostrow said the cast voted to present the entire show or nothing and the White House capitulated.

Ostrow said the cast also voted whether to come to Washington to appear without pay at the Executive Mansion. Some members were opposed to the trip on political grounds, as well.

"But we agreed that the matter should be decided by the democratic process," said Ostrow, adding that after vote the decision was made unanimous.

Clean Sweep Is Difficult

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—Making a clean sweep of City Hall here is becoming progressively more difficult, janitors said Thursday.

The janitors complained their brooms contain less horsehair these days. The Procurement Department explained there are not enough horses available for the brooms.

Howard Da Silva, who played Ben Franklin, said his greatest thrill was signing of the Declaration of Independence in the White House. The original documents were signed in Philadelphia and Baltimore.

Youngest Ever Wins Top Honor

VALLEY FORGE, Pa. (UPI)—Mike Levesque, 17, who organized a Youth for Decency rally last March in Miami's Orange Bowl, was honored Sunday by the Freedoms Foundation.

In accepting the George Washington Award, the foundation's highest honor, Levesque said he hoped his idea would "sweep the country."

A college freshman, he is the youngest person ever to win the award, which consists of a gold medal and a $5,000 check.

Sunday's ceremony, held not far from the hills where Washington and his troops spend a bitter winter in 1777-78, marked the 238th anniversary of Washington's birth.

More than 900 persons attended the ceremony at Valley Forge Military Academy. Fifty other top awards were presented and 2,300 regional awards were announced.

Among those who came to receive awards were singer Anita Bryant, news commentator Paul Harvey; Charles Gould, publisher of the San Francisco Examiner; and astronaut Edwin Aldrin, who accepted an award on behalf of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

Receiving the Patriot's Medal was Maj. James N. Rowe, 32, West Point graduate who was a Viet Cong prisoner for five years.

Hal Boyle Opens His Mail Bag

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—Thing as columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

If you are subject to hypertensive headaches—those that accompany high blood pressure—you may be able to end or curb them simply by using less salt.

The Panama Canal, hailed as one of the world's modern wonders upon its completion in 1914, is becoming outmoded. Almost a thousand ships are too wide to go through "the big ditch," and another 1,200 have to reduce their cargo in order to navigate it.

Those good old days: It's hard to believe now, but back in 1836 the U.S. Treasury declared a federal surplus of $28 million and divided it among 26 states.

Instead of using old newspapers to wrap wet fish, in the future we may eat them. A micro-organism that converts cellulose waste into pure protein has been found by Louisiana State University researchers. The protein which, hopefully, can be combined with other substances to make tasty food products has the texture of rough flour.

The older you are, the less likely you are to be a litterbug.

That may be a minor tribute to age, but it's a fact. A survey found that people between 21 and 35 are three times as likely to leave litter around as those over 50.

Quotable notables: "Show me a community or a country where all the minor vices are discouraged, and I will show you one bereft of major virtues."—Heywood Broun.

No easy way: Wouldn't you like to learn a foreign language by "listening" to records or radio broadcasts in that tongue played while you slept? It sounds great, but according to language experts consulted by New York State's attorney general, this kind of sleep learning is "inconceivable."

It is small wonder why bees are so busy. A bee has to visit 60-to-90 thousand flowers to make a mere thimbleful of honey. To add only two pounds of honey a day to a hive, five million individual bee flights are required.

If you feel you aren't hearing quite as well as you used to, smoking may be a contributory cause. A study at the Women's Medical College of Pennsylvania found that many smokers over 50 have a mildly impaired ability to hear low-pitched tones.

Worth remembering: "To handle yourself, use your head — to handle others, use your heart."

The earth is probably getting fatter as the result of thousands of tons of star dust it accumulates annually from its whirl through space. But your chances of seeing a really big asteroid strike the earth—say one weighing 50,000 tons or more—are pretty meager. It is estimated that one crashes into our plane only about once over 18,000 years.

It was Samuel Johnson who observed, "The feeling of friendship is like that of being comfortably filled with roast beef; love, like being enlightened with champagne."

HHH Urges Senate Refusal

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Former Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey says Judge G. Harrold Carswell should never have been nominated to the Supreme Court and urges the Senate refuse to confirm him. Humphrey said Sunday, "I just think that the court requires not only those who have an absence of conflict of financial matters, but also those who have an absence of conflict of interest on ideological, philosophical, or should I say racial matters."

He was interviewed on Metromedia Radio News.

Help Cool Mideast

It is not true Secretary of State William Rogers made his 10-nation trip to Africa to gain first-hand knowledge of African problems and how the United States might help.

This was a cover to hide the desperate urgency behind the Rogers trip.

In the higher circles of the administration, there is a deathly fear the Israeli-Arab war will erupt in full force, dragging in other nations, including the United States and the Soviet Union.

The Nixon administration men have become convinced that though Moscow doesn't want another full-scale war, it is so committed to the Arabs and so desperately anxious to hold influence in Arab lands that the men in the Kremlin cannot be counted on to do all that may be required to keep the situation from exploding.

The United States today has almost no influence on the Arab nations principally concerned and precious little influence on Israel. Logic has won us no points with Moscow.

Friends of Israel within the United States are mounting a small but vigorous campaign to influence the American position.

All this has left President Nixon without much leverage in preventing a war he believes must not be allowed to happen.

The logical place to find leverage may be among those "neighbors" of the Arabs and the Israelis who have not yet taken sides, and can reason with their minds as well as their emotions.

Thus the Africans. Thus the Rogers trip. Thus the particular countries Rogers picked to visit.

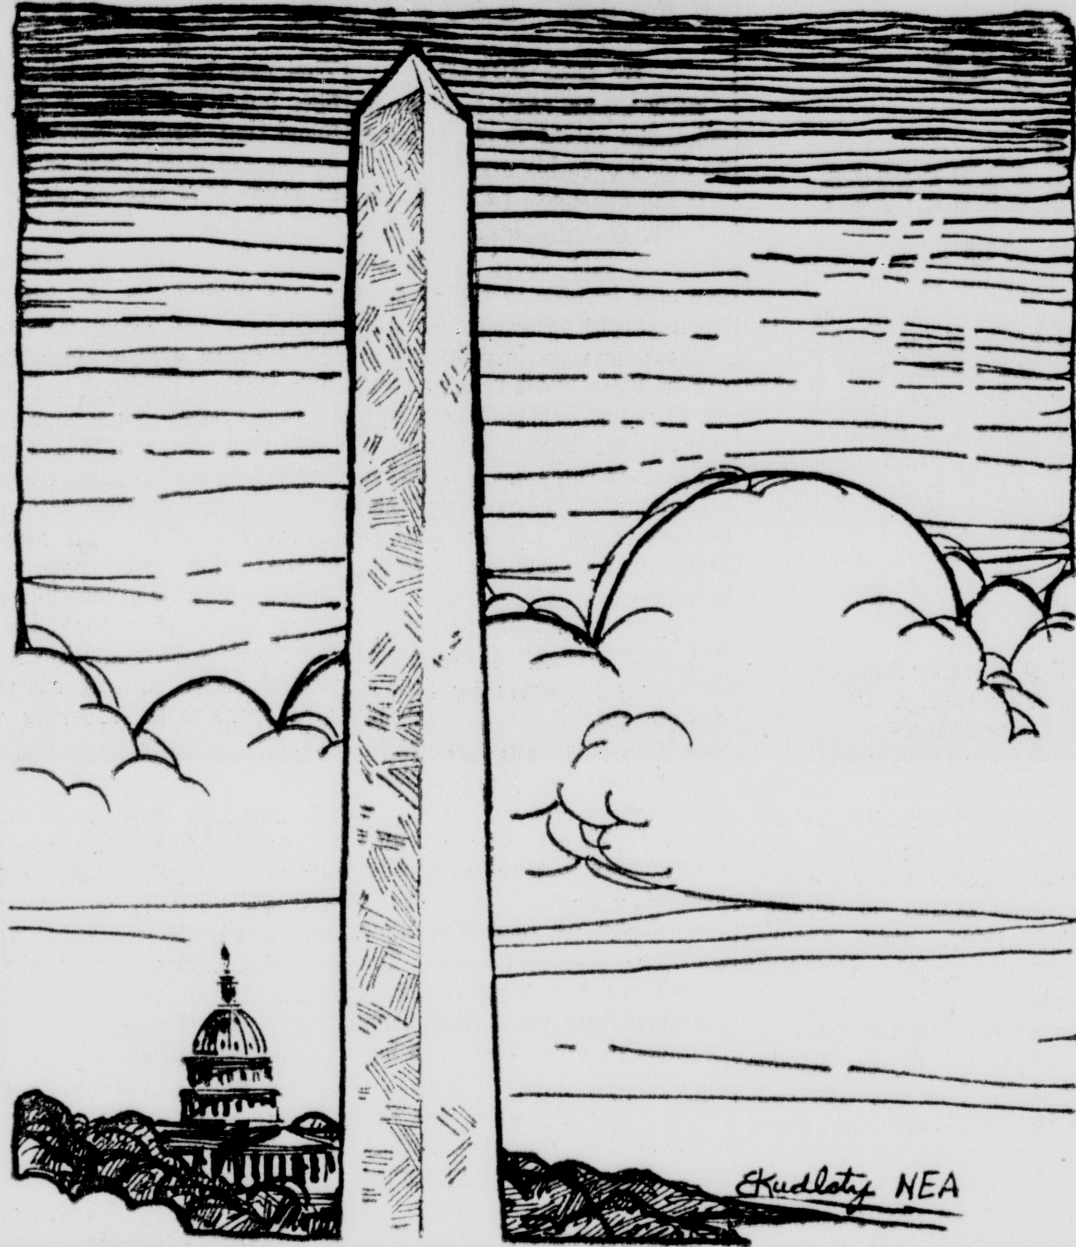

Most have some ties to the Middle East. Some have connections with Israel, some with Egypt and some with the Soviet Union. Most are moderates. Most, too, have some historical ties with the United States.

Rogers has been exploring what these African lands want to do with regard to the war, what they think can be done and how they want to go about it. He is, of course, searching for some base of African unity on this matter. Due to bumbling U.S. policy on Africa the past two decades, Washington does not even know for certain where these nations do stand.

Rogers would like the moderate African nations to take the initiative in developing a framework in which an all-out war between Israel and the Arab countries could be prevented and the present conflict brought to a halt. The United States presumably would back this policy, assuming, of course, that what came out did not conflict with vital American objectives.

Belief is strong among some administration advisers that friendly African pressures would be difficult for the Soviet Union, Egypt and Israel to withstand. In any event, these men see no other door in sight.

Device Spoils Fun for Red Spy

By HENRY J. TAYLOR

In arresting in Seattle United Nations Russian translator Aleksandr Tikhomirov on spy charges the FBI had the unrevealed aid of an astounding device. It also has a hardly known legal precedent to go on.

THE TRAFFIC in international secrets is a dirty business. The ideal espionage agent has eyeballs in his buttons and senses danger better than an elephant. It is hard enough to determine the spy but to have the evidence stand up in court is an added agony. Our country is full of known Soviet agents on the loose because the FBI lacks the legally acceptable admissible evidence.

THE DEVICE is called the Krest Spectrogram, or voice-printer. It plots the human voice's vibrations on a graph. No two voices are alike. This is now established for identification purposes as the difference in fingerprints. And, most importantly, courts have admitted voice-prints for evidence.

THE PRECEDENT was established in 1967 when California executive Herbert J. Young's child was kidnapped. The FBI put a Krest Spectrogram on Young's telephone. When the ransom-seeking telephoned Young demanding $250,000 the Spectrogram graphed the voice. Then the FBI equipped Young with a small recording microphone, a "miniphone," when Young delivered the money. It recorded the receiver's voice. And the court agreed that the Spectrogram chart proved these voices belonged to the same man.

LAST YEAR, worldwide, 107 Soviet agents were uncovered. Forty-five had diplomatic cover, 30 more were called journalists, the Kremlin passed off 15 as businessmen, five more as airline executives and six as cultural experts.

U.N. BASED Tikhomirov is charged, along with "other persons unknown," with conspiring to obtain our Pacific Northwest anti-aircraft, missile weapons and missile installation secrets. This is merely par for the course. The FBI finds that Soviet Embassy staffs contain anywhere from 30 to 80 per cent espionage personnel and that at least 80 per cent of the U.S.S.R. and Soviet-bloc delegations at the U.N. are intelligence officers and not diplomats at all.

TIKHOMIROV is highly trained. This tipoff came in a downtown Seattle restaurant. Such an agent keeps a glass or cup in front of his mouth while speaking in a restaurant, knowing that an expert FBI lip-reader can tell what he is saying from several al tables away. Tikhomirov also apparently employed the Soviet technique of producing a dollar bill with the consecutive serial number of a bill his Soviet contact is carrying to confirm both agents' identity.

THE SOVIET'S most-promising agents are trained at a secret center near Kutchinsk, outside Moscow, and receive their supertraining finally at Barkovo, 40 kilometers from the city. There the cover used is the immense new Aerodynamic Institute, which has no more to do with flying than a ground hog in the tundras. They are directed worldwide from an old 15th Century czarist chateau across the Vereyka River.

FICTION AND TV notwithstanding, women are seldom incorporated into the Soviet espionage apparatus. They are used as decoys, and then more rarely than supposed, or as routine informers. The Kremlin chiefs fear women agents may become emotionally involved. I never encountered a regular Soviet woman agent who was paid more than $100 a month — that is about their level, worldwide.

AT THE MOMENT it is not known how long Tikhomirov has been here, although his U.S. activities appear to have begun on Jan. 4, 1969, and his Pacific Northwest work on Dec. 5 last year. If he ever served as a "made over" agent this could have gone back any number of years.

BARKOVO'S CHIEFS slip trainees abroad for a year to familiarize themselves with the country and then bring them home. After another seven or eight years — as long as that — the trainees are returned to that country with a complete set of false documents, skilled enough to get good positions in government, science, defense or communications industries, etc.

IN ANY CASE, Aleksandr Tikhomirov's troubles are only beginning. No Red agent can afford to fail. His Moscow masters' point of puncture is the back of the neck. But even if Tikhomirov succeeded in our country it could be a false dream. The Soviet frequently fools its agents by saying it will put huge payments in escrow for them in Moscow. Then the masters liquidate the man for knowing too much when he comes home. (Copyright, 1970 by United Feature Syndicate, Inc.)

What Goliath Will Team With David?

By LEE MUELLER

NEA Staff Correspondent
One of America's august television acts, "The Huntley-Brinkley Report," is breaking up. After 14 years, the Huntley half of the hyphen is leaving.

SINCE 1956, the supertime faces of Chet Huntley and David Brinkley have flickered information into approximately 20 million living rooms, Monday through Friday. (My grandmother often claimed Brinkley's voice was a digestive aid.) They have lived through triumph and tragedy with housewives and husbands who, from their easy chairs, have watched two young newscasters wrinkle and protrude into middle age.

IN RURAL AMERICA, roadways and bridges and no few pet chickens have been named Huntley-Brinkley and-or Huntley and Brinkley. Now, Chet Huntley, 58, reportedly is going home to raise cattle in Montana and maybe run for senator.

IN NEW YORK AND — as Lowell Thomas used to say on radio — around the world, the report has prompted considerable speculation concerning Huntley's successor.

WHAT MAN, it is asked, would mesh with Brinkley's personality the way Huntley did?

BRINKLEY, 49, is a sophisticated, fairly witty fellow, given to grins on occasion. Huntley is a straight-faced poker player and a cattle rancher who doesn't mind infrequent charges of conflict of interest. (Some legislators say Huntley uses his broadcasts to attack legislation that would trim the beef industry.)

VARIETY, THE SHOW business newspaper, recently printed a headline which read: "Who'll Replace Chet? New Guessing Game."

"THERE'S BEEN LOTS of speculation," says Stan Appenzello of NBC, "but the truth of the matter is that Chet is still with us. Nobody knows for sure when he's leaving. There's no rule that says there has to be somebody with David, you know. It might be just the 'Brinkley Report.'"

MEANWHILE, NBC is not discouraging speculation which, in fact, is free publicity. While everyone from Spiro Agnew to Joe Namath to Floyd Calper was being rumored for the job, network news president Reuben Frank issued this glib memo to his staff:

"THERE IS A GREAT hungering out there in the world of print for information about who will take Chet Huntley's place. . . (I already have been told I have reviewed an audition tape of someone I never heard of).

"ADD GAMES People Play: Tell your favorite print contact, regular or trade, daily, weekly or Sunday, who you think, hope, guess will catch the brass ring, be tapped for the Big Apple, be named Scarlett O'Hara. See if it gets into print (2 points). See who picks up from there (2 each for newspaper, one each for trade papers, 10 for Sundays and 25 for newsmagazines).

"IF YOU HAVE any facts don't use them. It ruins the game. (If you have any facts, tell me . . .)

"AT THE MOMENT I am trying to figure out the prize for the top scorer. Maybe he should be the one to take Huntley's place, but that wouldn't work, would it?

"A JOB TEACHING journalism? The possibilities are endless. Maybe we can make another game out of that. Meanwhile, remember, one of you may be right!"

A NEWSPAPER friend who dislikes TV news coverage has recommended Howdy Doodly for the job.

"DOODY WOULD be the first honest television newsmen," he said. "He doesn't pretend to be anything but a real puppet . . . besides, he hasn't had a job in a long time."

BERRY'S WORLD

"I've been wearing this weight-reducing belt for a week now, and OOPS!"

By Frank O'Neal

Still Number One

This year is the last year that February 22 will be observed as Washington's Birthday. Federal legislation passed in 1968 and since copied by almost all the states designates that beginning in 1971 and thenceforward, the third Monday in February shall be a "legal public holiday" in honor of the first president.

(Actually, the holiday falls on the third Monday this year, too, since the 22nd is a Sunday. But that is merely a quirk of the calendar.)

The great man would not mind this juggling with his birthday. The fact is that he was not quite sure himself when he should celebrate it.

Contrary to what every schoolboy knows, George Washington was not born on Feb. 22, 1732, but Feb. 11, 1731. You can blame it all on Julius Caesar, or rather Sosigenes the Greek, who devised the Julian calendar at Caesar's direction in 46 B.C.

The trouble was that the Julian year was about 11 minutes longer than the solar year. A modest error, perhaps, but by the time of Pope Gregory XIII in 1582, the date of the vernal equinox — the first day of spring — was out of kilter by 10 days.

The Pope ordained, as Popes could do in those days, that Oct. 5, 1582, would be Oct. 15, and made further refinements in the calendar to keep this sort of thing from happening again.

Great Britain and her colonies, however, resisted this "Papish" innovation. When they finally did get around to admitting, in the middle of the 18th century, that the Gregorian calendar made sense, their year was 11 days out of line.

Parliament changed it all in two fell strokes. First, New Year's Day, 1752, was moved from the medieval date of March 25 to Jan. 1, in effect abolishing the last 83 days of 1751.

The result was that Washington, who was 19 in 1750 (Old Style), had no birthday at all in 1751 but became 20 on Feb. 11, 1752 (New Style).

Confused? Read on.

Parliament still had to get rid of those 11 extra days. So it arbitrarily decided that the day after Sept. 2, 1752, would be Sept. 14. Thus the following February, in 1753, Washington celebrated his 21st birthday not on the 11th but on the 22nd, as every schoolboy knows he should have.

The important thing, of course, is that Washington was ever born at all. Feb. 11, 1731, or Feb. 22, 1732, the third Monday or whenever — he remains first in the hearts of his countrymen through every succeeding generation.

How Much Harm?

The recent U.S. Senate inquiry into the side effects of birth control pills is beginning to have its own side effects. So claim a number of doctors and birth control proponents.

A string of experts witnesses at the hearings linked use of the pills with such disorders as blood clots, strokes, heart attacks, diabetes, high blood pressure, cancer and arthritis. Comparatively little was said in favor of the pills.

Doctors are beginning to see "the first round" of unwanted pregnancies among women who stopped using the pills in panic because of scare talk in past months, says Dr. R. Elgin Orcutt, president of the San Francisco Planned Parenthood Association. These women, he says, are experiencing the most serious side effect of all.

"Many are coming in for therapeutic abortions, many are going to England and many others are getting criminal abortions," he claims.

An estimated nine million American women are using birth control pills. According to the statistics presented at the Senate hearings, several thousand of these nine million could be expected to encounter the above-mentioned physical side effects. Yet without the pills, similar numbers would run the risk of complications in pregnancy or death in childbirth or in botched abortions.

Something else must be weighed in the balance — the intangible benefits of physical and mental well-being, family stability and the freedom from fear which this simple and effective means of contraception has brought to millions of wives and husbands both.

It is an extremely pertinent question whether all the adverse publicity surrounding the pills may not, in the long run, have caused more harm than good.

Barnickle-Todd Marriage Vows

SHABBONA — The United Church of Christ was the setting for the Feb. 7 marriage of Miss Susan Barnickle, daughter of Mrs. Mildred Barnickle, and Stanley P. Todd, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Todd.

Betty Canary

There is constant pressure on those in the professions to keep up with advances in their particular fields. Little has been done to alert parents to be ready for changes in their field. Every dedicated parent knows about new vaccines for off-spring and also keeps abreast of clothing fads and some even take night courses in modern math so they can help the kids with homework.

Most parents do not realize their main purpose in life is answering questions. Or that, as their children grow older, their questions become unanswerable. If a parent has more than two children, it is almost impossible to keep up with their varying interests and inevitably one falls back on tried-and-true dodges such as, "Well, I'd give you an answer but I think the rooster is burning," or "I've got strong opinions on that, Chuck, but it's up to you to find your own answers in this old world."

I can't exactly pinpoint the moment our first child stopped asking, "How does the electricity run through the little wire to the refrigerator, daddy?" and started asking, "Do you think our military favored delaying the missile tests primarily to complete the MIRV tests and, frankly, do you believe the Soviet Union — for economic reasons — needs a disarmament agreement far more than the United States?"

Unfortunately, a mother's usual reaction to this kind of question is to say, "Pass the peas, please," or "Did I tell you our club has already raised $568 for the United Fund?"

Some fathers bristle and remark, "When I was your age I concentrated on my chemistry lessons and look where I am today!" (This is a mistake. The child's next question will be an innocent, "Uh, where are you today, dad?")

A parent cannot be expected to be fully informed on every subject. Parents-in-the-know say there is no need to appear dimwitted. Apparently the best recourse is to have some stock questions to use in reply to questions you can't answer. The following list may be useful.

1) You want to know about missile talks? What I want to know is more about Blessed Cunegundes, a Franciscan who was canonized. Wasn't she the wife of Boleslaus V of Poland?

2) Amine acids? Couldn't you help me find out how many years ago the Biltmore Hotel had openwork iron cage elevators? Twenty? Thirty?

3) You want to know which is considered more important in the management of lands in the National Forest System — multiple use or sustained yield? What I want to ask is, where did you put my World Almanac?

4) Do I think 1969 brought a sense of culmination to pop music? What do you think about the Szell recording of orchestral excerpts from the Ring? (Newspaper Enterprise Assn.)

White gladioli, carnations and chrysanthemums were combined in bouquets placed on the church altar, and candelabras held lighted tapers.

Faillie Gown
Given in marriage by her brother-in-law, Gordon Houghtby, the bride was attired in an empire gown of white silk faille styled with a floor-length skirt extending into a chapel train. The gown's molded bodice of peau d'ange lace reembodyed with pearls and crystals, featured a high neckline and wrist-length lantern sleeves. Bouffant tiers of illusion formed her bridal veil, which fell from a headpiece of silk organza rosebuds and lace petals, and a white orchid centered her cascading bouquet of pink carnations, stephanotis and jiv.

Miss Gail Jacobson, the bride's maid of honor, and her attendant, Mrs. Thomas Reid, Rochelle, wore identical full-length gowns of red velvet with pink satin headresses, and their flower girls wore cascades of pink carnations.

A similar costume was worn by the flower girl, Miss Lisa Watkins, Waterman, niece of the bridegroom, and pink carnations filled the miniature basket she carried.

Mrs. Barnickle chose a pink and blue floral dress for her daughter's wedding, and a two-piece black-and-white checked suit was worn by the bridegroom's mother.

Timothy Landers, Plano, participated in the ceremony as ringbearer, and attending the bridegroom as best man was Thomas Houghtby, Shabbona. Henry Prestegard, Lee, served as groomsmen, and wedding guests were ushered by Charles Schoenholz and Ronald Korth, Lee.

A tiered wedding cake, topped by figures of a bridal couple, centered the refreshment table arranged for a reception in the church dining hall following the ceremony when guests were registered by Mrs. LeRoy Kitter. The cake was served with a bridegroom's cake by the bride's sister, Mrs. Gordon Houghtby, and punch and coffee were poured by the bridegroom's sister, Miss Mary Todd, and Miss Rhonda O'Kane. Presiding at the gift table were Miss Diane Chambers and Mrs. Stanley Sandrock.

Rehearsal Dinner
The newlyweds were also honored at a Feb. 6 rehearsal dinner hosted by the bridegroom's parents in the Shabbona American Legion Hall for members of the wedding party.

The new Mrs. Todd is a 1969 graduate of Shabbona High School, where her husband, an employee of the Richardson Company, DeKalb, graduated in 1964.

Since their return from a Wisconsin wedding trip, they have been residing with the bride's mother, and will be living in rural Shabbona after March 1.

Miss Foss, Dean Cater Are Engaged

Mr. Cater, also a 1968 graduate of Franklin Center High School, is enrolled as a sophomore at Sauk Valley College, and will attend Northern Illinois University, DeKalb, next year.

A definite date for their marriage has not been selected.

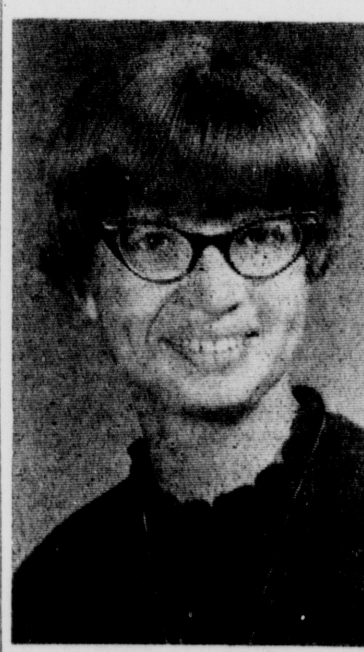

Woosung Club

Mrs. Alvin Winkey will entertain the Woosung Woman's Club at a noon scramble luncheon Wednesday, and a "show and tell" program planned for the afternoon, will feature a display of hobbies and original handicraft provided by club members.

Pest-Lochrie Nuptial Vows

MRS. STEVEN LOCHRIE STEWARD — Miss Marsha Pest, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Pest, Steward, became the bride of Steven Lochrie, son of the John Lochries, Belleville, Mich., Feb. 10 in Ypsilanti, Mich.

A graduate of Rochelle Township High School, the bride was employed at Caron Spinning Company, Rochelle, prior to her marriage.

Mr. Lochrie returned in October from Vietnam, where he served with the Marine Corps. He is presently employed as a computer programmer in Ann Arbor, Mich., and they are residing in Belleville.

Dear Ann:

By ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann Landers: I decided the next time you printed a letter against wife-spanking I would write and tell you off. Today is the day.

My wife has always been stubborn and rock-headed. Her father told me when I married her that the only way to keep Laura in line was to turn her over my knee and spank her with a hairbrush. In fact, he gave me a hairbrush for a wedding present.

Laura and I have been married 12 years and I've used that brush dozens of times. It would be no exaggeration to say the hairbrush has kept our marriage together.

And now I'm going to turn this letter over to Laura so she can tell you how she feels about it. — Sincerely yours, H.L.K.

Dear Ann Landers: You are wrong about wife-spanking. Henry spans me when I need it. I'm glad he has the good sense to be boss. If more husbands spanked their wives, there would be fewer divorces.

After a spanking, Henry and I usually make love and we don't even remember what we quarreled about. I'll bet hundreds of couples besides Henry and me end their little tiffs this way. Now, what do you think, Ann Landers? — Henry's Bad Girl

Dear Girl: I think the solution is wonderful — for a couple of nuts like you and Henry. Obviously, the rocks in your head match the holes in his. Please keep my address handy. When the spankings turn into beatings, you might want to write again.

Dear Ann Landers: I'm a young mother with a big problem. I became involved with a married man. He said he loved me and I believed him. Now I'm supporting a seven-month-old daughter.

I had a miserable pregnancy and hated the baby before she was born. The minute I saw her my whole world changed. I knew I could never give her up. Now I'm working two jobs to support us and believe me, it's not easy.

I've been "laid off" (fired) twice in the last six months. Everyone is great until they find out I have a child. Then they treat me like I have smallpox. I have never been married so I go by Miss Smith. I should tell you, Ann, I am only 16-years-old. It is very hard to be looked down on and left out of things. How long will I have to pay for one mistake? What should I do? — Tulsa Troubles

Dear Tulsa: For openers you can call yourself Mrs. Smith. A young woman with a child who introduces herself as Miss Smith hangs a sign around her neck that says, "Kick me." If someone asked about your husband simply say, "I am not married." The details are nobody's business. I'm not suggesting you lie, but I am recommending that you keep your personal history to yourself until you are well enough established to overcome the prejudice. Unfair? Perhaps, but this is the penalty for breaking the rules.

Confidential to In Love With A Machine: One of the reasons he's such a howling success (financially, that is) is because he is driven. Of course he's neurotic. This is one of the qualities that made him rich.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

By Oswald & James Jacoby
Jim: "Over the years, you have established a reputation as the fastest bridge player in the world. Do you think that you play too fast?"

Oswald: "Not at all. I merely don't waste unnecessary time. When I should stop to think, I do so."

Jim: "What do you consider the most important time for declarer to think?"

Oswald: "That's an easy one. Some time before his play to the first or the second trick, so he can plan the entire campaign."

Jim: "Here is a good example of the advantage of this early thinking. The contract is six spades. Dummy's ace of hearts wins the first trick and it is up to South to decide between a diamond or club discard."

Oswald: "It shouldn't be too much of a problem. At first glance, a diamond discard looks like a winner, since this will insure South against loss of a diamond trick. However, first glance isn't enough."

Jim: "I should say not. If South discards a diamond, he may wind up taking 10 or 15 minutes to play out the hand and will not only have wasted a lot of time, but also tossed a slam out the window."

Oswald: "Just a little more thought will show that a club discard guarantees the slam. Furthermore, South can play the hand with great speed from then on. He simply draws the opponents' trumps and tries the diamond finesses. If it succeeds and the suit breaks nicely, he will make seven. If it fails, he will claim his slam, since he will be able to discard another club on dummy's ace of diamonds."

Hospitals Institute Restrictions

CHICAGO (UPI) — Two area hospitals instituted admissions restrictions Sunday as an influx of patients strained resources.

University of Chicago Hospitals restricted admissions to emergency patients only. At Michael Reese Hospital, admissions through the clinic were put on an emergency-only basis and officials said restrictions on private patients might be put into effect.

A University of Chicago spokesman said hospitals there were "feeling the pressure" of similar restrictions instituted Thursday at Cook County Hospital.

The spokesman said Billings Hospital would be the university hospital most affected. Restrictions would be continued on a day-to-day basis, he said.

A spokesman for Michael Reese said officials there expected today and Tuesday to be peak admissions days.

Dr. Robert J. Freeark, administrator of Cook County Hospital, blamed the crowding on a large number of respiratory diseases brought on by cold weather.

This Week in Congress

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Congress today observes the birthday of George Washington with a reading of his farewell address, including his admonition to "steer clear of permanent alliances with any portion of the foreign world."

Rep. Frank Annunzio, D-Ill., was the reader for the House and Sen. Quentin N. Burdick, D-N.D., for the Senate.

WASHINGTON never delivered the speech. He gave it to a Philadelphia newspaper, which printed it.

In its regular business this week, the lawmakers face a scrap over programs to feed the hungry and the threat of another presidential veto.

Debate will be interrupted Wednesday when the House and Senate hold a joint session to hear an address by President Georges Pompidou of France.

Rep. Bertram Podell, D-N.Y., who has urged his colleagues to boycott the speech in protest against French sale of jet planes to Libya, predicted more than half the 435 House members would stay away.

Poloan Dies In Crash

STERLING — Lee W. Hadaway, 80, Rt. 1, Polo, was pronounced dead on arrival at Community General Hospital, following an accident at 2:45 p.m. Saturday on the Freeport Road, seven and a half miles north of Sterling.

Davis W. Shaw, 44, Oregon, driver of the pickup, and a passenger in the truck, the Rev. Russell A. Schumacher, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Polo, are listed in satisfactory condition today, according to officials at Community General Hospital.

The Hadaway auto was northbound, and, according to State Police, was traveling on the wrong side of the roadway while coming around a curve.

The Shaw pickup tried to go into the ditch to avoid the accident, according to police, but was struck broadside on the left side by the Hadaway auto.

Estimated damage to the Hadaway auto was $1,400, and the Shaw pickup sustained $1,800 damage.

Police are investigating the accident.

Hadaway was born May 14, 1889, in Erie, the son of George and Mary Bechel Hadaway.

He was married to Lydia B. George, and the couple farmed most of their married life in Polo.

Friends may call in the funeral home from 7 to 9 p.m. today.

Egan Youth Is Killed In Crash

FORRESTON — A 16-year-old Egan youth was killed, and a passenger in his auto was treated and released, following an accident Saturday at 7 p.m. on the Baileyville Road, two miles north of Ill. 26.

Pronounced dead at the scene was Steven Chester Bauer. The passenger, Gary L. Borgmann, 16, Forreston, was treated and released at Freeport Memorial Hospital.

The Bauer auto was southbound, when the car failed to negotiate a 90-degree turn, according to State Police, the car went off the roadway, down a 20-foot embankment, rolled over on its top, pinning the driver.

Bauer was born June 23, 1953, in Byron Township, Ogle County, the son of Chester and Irene Leone Groth Bauer.

He was a lifelong resident in the Egan and Byron area, and was a junior at the Leaf River High School. He was a member of the Baptist Church of Byron.

Funeral services will be held Tuesday at 2 p.m. in the Baptist Church with the Rev. Elwin Colson, former pastor, officiating. Burial will be in the Greenwood Cemetery, Rockford.

Friends may call in the Baker-Morrison Funeral Home, Byron, from 7 to 9 p.m. today.

Prison officials joined the search and were not immediately available for comment on how the escape occurred.

The escapees were identified as Michael Bowen, 25, Decatur; Rickey Dwayne Reed, 19, Poca-hontas, Ark., and Ronald Chamness, 24, of Madison County, Illinois.

State police said the men apparently escaped around 3 a.m. in a prison-owned red pickup truck which later was found mired in mud near Ellis Grove.

Police said the men may have armed themselves with knives before their flight. There were no reports of injuries during the escape.

Authorities said Bowen was serving concurrent 2-10 and 2-4 year terms for forgery and aggravated battery; Reed 2-4 years for burglary and theft, and Chamness 2-6 years for robbery.

Prison officials joined the search and were not immediately available for comment on how the escape occurred.

The escapees were identified as Michael Bowen, 25, Decatur; Rickey Dwayne Reed, 19, Poca-hontas, Ark., and Ronald Chamness, 24, of Madison County, Illinois.

State police said the men apparently escaped around 3 a.m. in a prison-owned red pickup truck which later was found mired in mud near Ellis Grove.

Police said the men may have armed themselves with knives before their flight. There were no reports of injuries during the escape.

Braced A Bit

To find out if the ice is thick enough for skating at Northern Illinois University's Winter Carnival this week, Carnival Co-chairmen Charlene Reczek and John Yedinak had to use a big brace and bit and a marked drop line. Sad-looking John looks like perhaps he should have braced himself a bit more against the near zero temperatures. They found the ice on the NIU lagoon was more than eight inches thick Friday — perfect for Carnival.

Chicago 5 Concentrate On Obtaining Bonds

CHICAGO (UPI) — The five men convicted of crossing state lines to incite riots during the 1968 Democratic National Convention have asked their supporters to concentrate on efforts to obtain appeal bonds. U.S. District Court Judge Julius J. Hoffman denied bond Friday after sentencing the five to five years in prison and $5,000 fines. He termed them "dangerous men."

We urge our supporters to focus now on the issue of appeal bond," the five said in a statement issued Sunday from the "conspiracy" headquarters in Chicago's Loop. "If bond is not granted," the statement said, "we will be forced to serve most of our five-year sentences even if the case against us is later reversed."

"Thus the issue of bond is really the issue of our freedom." Attorneys for the defendants have filed emergency motions with the 7th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in an attempt to obtain bond for the five convicted defendants and for two found innocent.

The latter two, John Froines and Lee Weiner, are serving contempt of court sentences imposed by Hoffman. The others are serving time counting toward both the five-year sentences and contempt sentences.

Ohio Voters Increase Tax Rates

OHIO — Voters, in a special election Saturday, passed a referendum to increase the educational tax rate by an overwhelming margin of 145 to 44. This means that the tax rate for education can be raised from 92 cents up to $1.15.

Dale Huff, superintendent of Ohio High School, said before the election the people of Ohio had three choices. They could issue tax-anticipation warrants, close or consolidate the school or pass the referendum to increase the tax rate.

The high school, according to Huff, would have had to suspend operations if the referendum had not passed.

'People's Bill'

DES MOINES, Iowa (UPI) — Sen. Joseph Coeman, D-Clare, Thursday cast a dissenting vote from the men's room at the back of the state Senate chamber.

Coleman voted against a bill legalizing Jasper County official payment for the construction of three toilets in the Ashton-Woodward County Park. "This is a people's bill if there ever was one," said the bill's sponsor, Sen. Eugene Hill, D-Newton, in urging support. The bill passed 51-1.

Ideal Site

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Former Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge says Berlin would be the ideal site for the United Nations headquarters, but "there is no chance of its happening." "There have been many times I felt it would be good if the U.N. were not in New York," he told a House foreign affairs subcommittee Thursday. "Having it there creates many problems. I have always thought Berlin would be the ideal spot for it. There is a great deal to be said for it, but no chance of it happening."

Agnew, Burger Slap Media

ATLANTA (UPI)—Vice President Spiro T. Agnew and Chief Justice Warren E. Burger criticized the news media in separate weekend appearances. Agnew denounced the "drivel" of the liberal press and Burger was angered by a "disrespectful" television camera crew.

Agnew spoke at a $100-a-plate dinner Saturday night that raised $100,000 for the Georgia GOP. He said he does not intend to heed the call of the "liberal news media . . . to lower my voice."

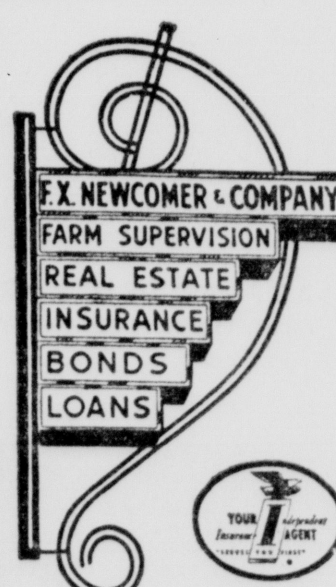

Law-abiding Americans, Agnew said, "Need a strong voice to penetrate the cacophony of seditious drivel emanating from the best-publicized clowns of our society and from their fans in the Fourth Estate."

Argument Before Speech
Burger's argument with the CBS Television came before his speech Saturday night to the American Bar Association (ABA) Convention.

Burger said Sunday he called CBS President Frank Stanton to complain about the conduct of the crew.

Mighty mite Savanna flexed its muscles Saturday and grappled its way to the sectional wrestling championship hosted at Dixon's Lancaster Gymnasium, leaving many larger school behind in their wake. The Indians compiled 45 team points, as compare to 38 for runnerup East Moline and 33 for fourth place Dixon.

The BIG news as far as Dixon is concerned, however, was the qualifying of three matmen for the state wrestling tourney this weekend to be held at the Illinois State University campus in Normal.

with a double-leg takedown for a 4-1 lead and completely dominated Kittler the rest of the match.

Against Gibson, who defeated Kittler in a bitter and controversial match for second place and the right to wrestle at state, Schuler scored a first period takedown and a third period reversal for the win. Doug is now 25-2.

Making good with his opportunity to avenge his only previous setback in a 27-1 record, Witzleb encountered East Moline's Gary Freeman in the semifinal round of wrestling and came away with a 6-2 win. Freeman had decided the Dixon junior in the Dixon Invitational last December, 9-6.

The final round for Big Jim was Riverdale's formidable Todd Nicholson, regarded by most veteran observers as one of the outstanding heavyweights in the state during the past two years. The huge Ram had posted several pinning victories over the Duke heavyweight last year, but managed just a 4-2 win this time.

Nicholson 26-0

Nicholson picked up a second period reverse and predicament against two escapes by Witzleb for his margin of victory, his 26th against no defeats, he has 20 pins. Wrestling back for second place, Jim topped Dennis Burns of Peoria Bergen, 5-1, for the right to compete in the state meet.

Dixon lost the opportunity to take four wrestlers to the state meet when Marty Hey had an off-day and was decided by Frank Armetta of Rock Island Alleman, 13-0. Armetta was decided in the finals eliminating any chance of Hey wrestling back for second place. Marty, a senior, closes out with a 29-3 season mark, which included a win over the sectional champion, Wayne Gaulkins of East Moline earlier this year.

"The state tournament will provide excellent experience for underclassmen Witzleb and Sloan," Coach Morris commented, "as they should benefit a great deal by the trip. Down there at the state a lot depends on the luck of the draw and that sort of thing, but all three have a chance to do something."

Down there at the state a lot depends on the luck of the draw and that sort of thing, but all three have a chance to do something."

"From informal talking, it seems like a number of officials and coaches feel that Doug has a real fine chance to place down there," he added.

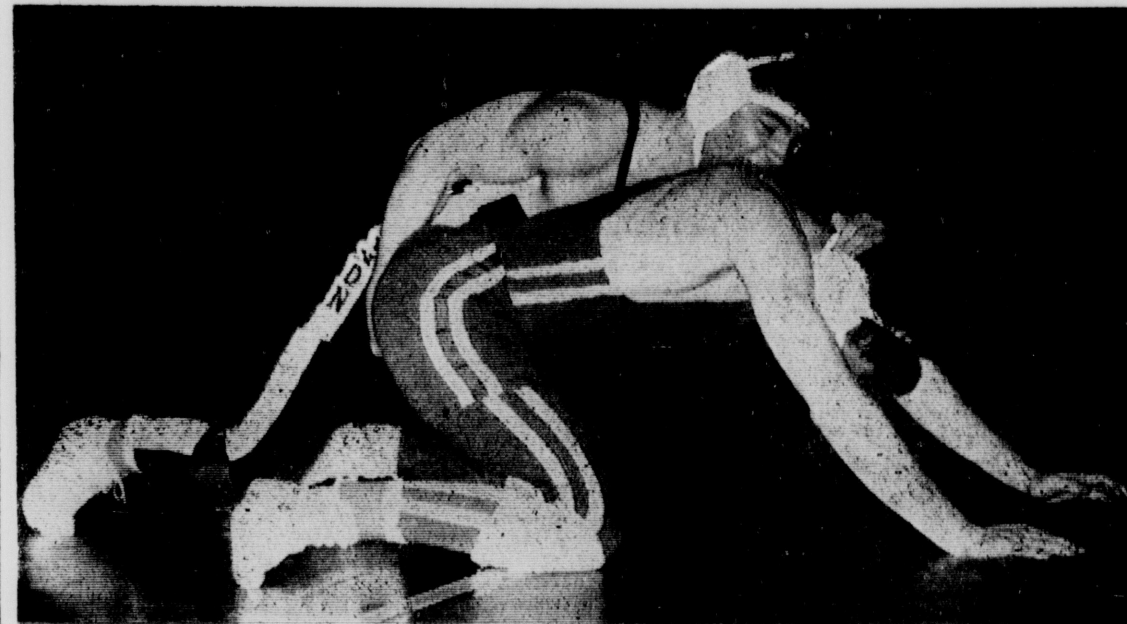

The three grapplers make this the most qualifiers that Dixon has had in six years. Sloan and Schuler are the first sectional winners since Ward Hey two years ago, while it has been four years since any Dixon wrestler even won a match at state.

Mike Wadsworth, who placed third at 165 in 1963, was the last Dixon wrestler to place in the tourney at state.

Dukes Top Comets

Kipping Paces Attack

STERLING — The hustling Dixon Dukes made the Sterling Newman Comets their 13th victim of the 1969-70 basketball season, Saturday night, as the visitors from Dixon fashioned a 73-65 victory over the Illowa League foe.

Behind 4-1 in the initial stages of the game, the Dukes rallied for a tie at 7-7, took the lead on a field goal by Fran Fassler and jumped out to a 13-7 advantage on two goals by Mike Ryser, the first coming on a beautifully executed fast break. The visitors held a 22-15 edge at the end of the first period of play.

Tie at 28-28

Larry Villa popped in a 15-footer to start the second half for Newman, but senior guard Bernie Lendman retaliated with a 10-footer for the Dukes, only to have the hosts battle back with two quick buckets, cutting the edge to 24-20. With only 2:30 remaining in the first half, Villa connected again, tying the score at 28-28. Ron Smith, a sophomore playing in his second varsity game for Dixon, tossed in two free throws to snap the tie and Brad Kipping responded with a basket from underneath to push the visitors into a 32-28 lead. Dixon led at the half, 35-30.

Bus Trip to SVC Contest Is Planned

The Dixon High School Boosters' Club is sponsoring a bus trip to the Sauk Valley district basketball contest to be played Wednesday at La Salle. Those interested in attending are asked to contact Bob Fichter at 288-1491 or at 288-2631 after 5 p.m.

The bus will depart from Dixon High School at 5:30 for the 7 p.m. game against Black Hawk College. Seating capacity is 40, so those interested are urged to act at once.

The Dukes began to pull away in early stages of the second half, building a 45-36 lead with 4:45 left in the third quarter and upping the margin to 11 points at the conclusion of the period, 55-44.

With just four minutes left to play in the contest, however, the NCIC representatives had their lead whittled to 61-57 as Larry and Al Villa and Mike Papocia hit consistently from the field. With 2:20 remaining in the contest, and the score at 67-61, Papocia struck again to narrow the margin to four points, but Lendman hit senior center Jim Heintzelman with a perfect feed, upping the count to 69-63. Al Villa then hit for the Comets and a 69-65 deficit with less than minute remaining, but Kipping took control of things at this point, scoring on two free throws for a 71-65 edge and hitting from underneath the basket moments later for the final 73-65.

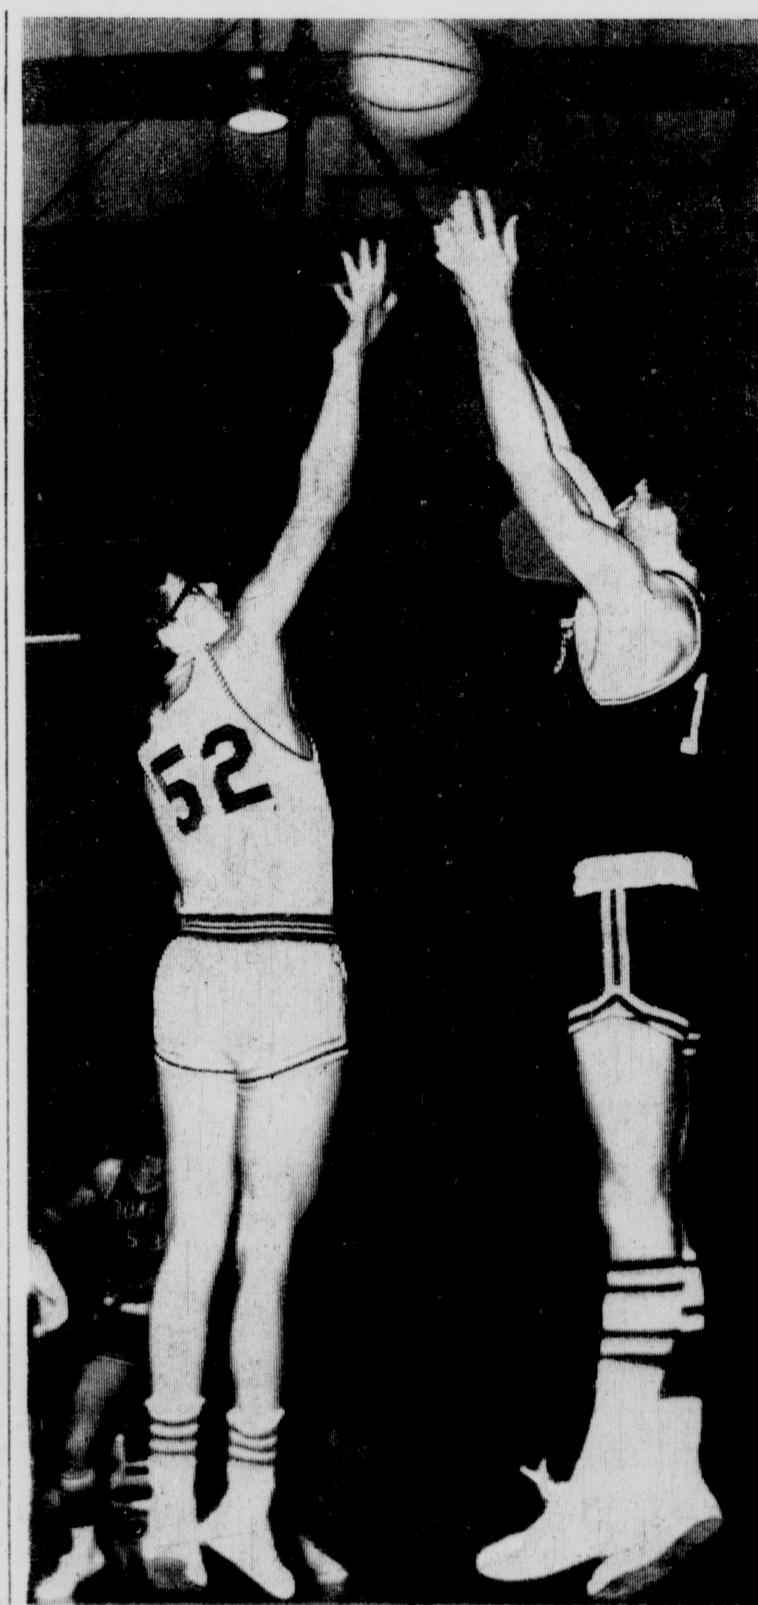

Dukes 13-9

The Comets, currently 7-6 in the Illowa race, are now 9-12 for the season, while Dixon is possessor of a 13-9 season mark. Kipping led all scorers in the game as he connected on 10 of 14 field goal attempts and added nine of 10 free throws for 29 points. Four other Dukes were tied for second high game honors with 10 points, including Lendman, Ryser, Heintzelman and Fassler.

Papocia paced the losers with a 23-point effort, while Larry Villa accounted for 15 points and Al Villa for 12.

The Dukes shot at a 48 percent clip (27 of 56) from the field and added 19 of 26 free throw attempts (73 per cent) for the winning margins, while Newman was 26 of 65 from the field for 48 per cent. The Comets shot at a 76 per cent clip from the free throw line, but had nine fewer opportunities than did the winners.

Dixon closes the regular portion of their slate Friday when they host NCIC foe Streator, while Newman entertains Illowa foe De Witt Central Friday.

Sophomores Bow, 56-43

STERLING — The Newman Shooting Stars defeated the Dixon Dukes Saturday night, 56-43. High scorer for Dixon was Gordon Yeazel, with 11 points. Dixon was 14 of 59 from the field for 29 per cent.

Creative Contribution To Show

CHICAGO — An astronaut and a lunar landing module, both made of flowers, standing in a rock-filled crater and surrounded by a red, white and blue floral landscape, will be the Chicago Park District's creative contribution to the 1970 Chicago World Flower and Garden Show.

It will be a floral salute by the Park District to the United States Space Age and will be an incentive for winter-weary midwesterners to "Spring Into the '70s" when the annual flower and garden show, now in its 12th season, unfolds at the Amphitheatre on March 7.

Constructed with chrysanthemums, the landing module will be 12 feet high, almost half the size of the real one, and the astronaut will be in scale with the exhibit.

Visitors standing at the center of the garden will see red-white-and-blue as they gaze up the slope of the crater; and as they proceed to either side an exciting abstract of floral hues will appear. Flowers to be used are red and pink tulips, salvias, poinsettias, azaleas and begonias; white hyacinths, astilbes, blue ageratum and cinerarias.

Pulling these elements together and adding excitement will be a solid black backdrop using black-light process to create a three-dimensional appearance of the earth and stars glowing brightly as if seen from the moon.

The International Amphitheatre is at 43rd and South Halsted streets adjoining the famed Stock Yard Inn. Protected parking for 6,000 cars is available.

Battle of Words

The Kremlin is expected to join with Egypt in the attempt to isolate Israel which seems to be gaining in the propaganda war with comparatively little effort. Also in the cards is active support for the Palestinian guerrillas. Al Fatah leader Yasser Arafat, who spent 10 days in Moscow on a hush-hush mission, was reported to have asked for the privilege of establishing a permanent "diplomatic" agency in Moscow. It would cause no surprise to local observers if the Kremlin agreed.

France Joins the Act

France is expected to expand its radio transmissions to North Africa and the Middle East as part of its new "Mediterranean for the Mediterraneans" policy. Talks are expected to begin soon to install a booster transmitter on Cyprus and a permanent television link between France and Tunisia. In addition, French officials are studying, on orders of President Georges Pompidou, the possibility of setting up an organization to disseminate French movie and television firms throughout the world.

Kadar, Rumors in Budapest say Kadar, who has been in power for 14 years, may choose to become the first Communist leader to retire voluntarily. Kadar has said nothing to support the rumors.

Aircraft Carriers Stay

The British Labor government appears to have dropped plans to scrap Britain's entire aircraft carrier force—at least for the next few years. The carriers Ark Royal and Eagle have just been equipped with Phantom jet fighter-bomber squadrons and are likely to stay in service until 1975. The carrier Hermes, however, will be phased out and will go into reserve.

Voluntary Red Retirement?

The announcement that the Hungarian party will hold a congress late this year has started speculation about the future of party leader Janos Kadar.

Quotes From the News

By United Press International ATLANTA — Vice President Agnew, declaring he will not cease his public statements in the face of liberal criticism: "To penetrate that drivel disseminated by the liberal news media, we need a cry of alarm . . . (we) need a strong voice to penetrate the cocophony of seditious drivel emanating from the best-publicized clowns of our society and from their fans in the Fourth Estate."

WASHINGTON — Former Vice-President Humphrey, urging the Senate not to confirm the Supreme Court nomination of Judge G. Harrold Carswell: "This is nothing personal. I just think that the court requires not only those who have an absence of conflict of financial matters, but also those who have an absence of conflict of interest on ideological, philosophical or, should I say, racial matters."

ATLANTA — Georgia Gov. Lester Maddox, discussing the possible nationwide extension of the National Christian party as an attraction for independents and members of present political parties with conservative leanings: "There are Democrats and Republicans that would never go to an independent party per se, but there are Democrats and Republicans with a strong faith in God and love for their country that would leave their party to follow the way God would have them go."

WASHINGTON — The final warning of Craig D. Gardner, a 19-year-old postal worker obsessed with LSD as heard on a tape recording he made before committing suicide: "It's bad news—it really is. I didn't think it was when I was first taking it, but I've been getting pretty stoned lately and you just don't know what's real and what isn't real. You really don't."

Generates Lots Of Interest

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Rep. William Scherle, R-Iowa, in a wry comment on the activities of the Small Business Administration, says the agency's loan of $41,000 to a topless style restaurant in Denver called the "Body Shoppe" is one of its more "outstanding" loans.

"Things must be in good shape in Denver," Scherle said in a news letter. "This loan may not return much principal but it will certainly generate a lot of interest."
